Consortium for Educational Communication (CEC) New Delhi

Viksit Bharat@2047 represents the Government of India's vision to transform the nation into a developed country by the centenary of its independence in 2047.Encompassing diverse facets of the development such as economic prosperity, social advancement, environmental sustainability, education for all and effective governance.

Digital education is critical in India's journey to realise the vision of "Viksit Bharat @2047". The Indian government is spearheading this programme, which aims to revolutionize the country and empower its population through digital literacy and education. Digital education, which includes e-education and digital empowerment programmes, is a campaign launched to revolutionize the education industry and bridge accessibility and quality disparities. It entails the supply of educational content and services using digital platforms and technology, transforming every person into a fully digitally literate netizen. The widespread adoption of digital education in India is a serious goal shared by governmental educational institutions, EdTech businesses, and CSR efforts.

This seminar will bring together the academicians, researchers, educators, edu-tech professionals and students to deliberate their inputs and suggestions in achieving a developed India by 2047.It will also be immensely effective to generate ideas on how digital education will be instrumental in accomplishing a Viksit Bharat@2047, a clarion call made by our Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi.
